Joe Lieff elected Council President

By Mark Buckshon

It was an evening of memories, ceremony and pride.

The Seventh Annual Meeting of the Jewish Community of Ottawa on June 24 continued the tradition of honouring past achievements and setting the course for the future.

Some 120 people gathered at the Jewish Community Centre to hear outgoing president Sol Shinder give his closing report and Joseph Lieff take the reins of leadership.

They also honoured three men who gave special service to the community: Samuel Caplan, Lawrence Freiman and the late Gilbert Greenberg.

Mr. Freiman received the Gilbert Greenberg Distinguished Service Award, which was unveiled and dedicated at the meeting. Mr. Caplan was honoured for his service to the Ottawa Hebrew Benevolent Society from 1914 to 1980.

Mr. Shinder, in dedicating the Gilbert Greenberg Award, said: "Gilbert's deep feelings for our people, both in Israel and locally, knew no bounds. If there was a worthy Jewish cause that needed leadership and support, he was there with both. But he did not limit himself to Jewish endeavours, he was a proud Canadian who felt he lived in the finest country in the world."

One of Mr. Greenberg's sons, Alan, unveiled the award. His voice cracked with emotion as he thanked the community for the honour to his father.

David Loeb, Chairman of the Selection Committee then presented the award for 1981 to Mr. Freiman. He said "Lawrence Freiman added a unique chapter of his own" to the community during decades of service. He contributed as a "noted businessman, pioneer in social welfare, and as a national leader of the first rank."

In addition to his involvement with the Jewish Community Council, the United Jewish Appeal and the Canadian Zionist Federation, Mr. Freiman helped found the National Arts Centre and took a prominent role in other arts and literary organizations.

In accepting the award, Mr. Freiman reminisced about the past including such highlights as turning the sod for the Jewish Community Centre, the protest organized when Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin visited Ottawa, and the drama of opening the Arts Centre.

Samuel Caplan's name was inscribed on a tablet dedicated to the Benevolent Society, which turned over its responsibilities to the Jewish Social Services Agency of Ottawa-Carleton on December 31, 1980.

"The community is grateful for the contribution played by the Society over these last 82 years," Mr. Shinder said. "The principles upon which the society operated have been the essence of what is good and decent in the Ottawa Jewish Community."

Mr. Caplan borrowed from the scriptures in describing the philosophy of the Benevolent Society. "Never have I seen the poor forsaken, or the children begging for bread," he quoted. Help was always offered in a way to allow the recipient to retain his dignity.

On assuming office, Mr. Lieff presented his predecessor with a plaque and thanked him for his leadership and service. His wife, Zelaine, received a bouquet of roses.

Mr. Lieff said the economic concerns of last year will continue during his term. These include a need to "economize on community services" and establish priorities to deal with inflation.

be devoted to fund-raising, he added. "If we require community services, then we have to pay for them." However, he said participation is as important as money, especially in the vital area of long-range planning.

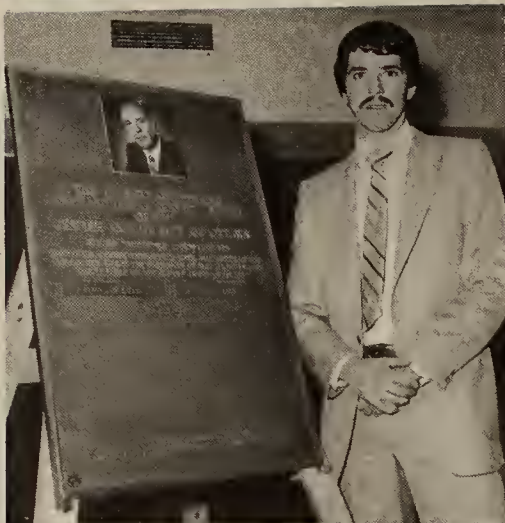

Officers who will serve with Mr. Lieff this year are: Dr. Harvey Lithwick, First Vice-President; Gerald Berger, Second Vice-President; Chick Taylor, Treasurer; and Lorry Greenberg, Honorary Secretary.

The 10 new trustees-at-large are: Mrs. Myra Aronson, Dr. Shier Berman, Akiva Kriger, Issie Landau, Elliott Levitan, Irving Rivers, Gdalyah Rosenfeld, Mrs. Merida Sachs, Arnon Vered, and Stephen Victor.

The meeting, also the 47th Annual General Meeting of the Jewish Community Council, began at 7:30 p.m. A reception followed.

Before the meeting adjourned, Dr. Eli Rabin, on behalf of the Community Relations Committee, presented a motion calling for a strong protest against the editorial policies of The Citizen newspaper. The motion was passed unanimously.

Vaad Report

by Joseph Lieff
President, Ottawa Vaad Ha'Ir
Jewish Community Council

(Delivered at the Annual Meeting on June 24)

In Appreciation to Sol Shinder

As has been the custom, it is now my first official duty, as your President, to express the appreciation of a grateful community to my predecessor for his outstanding services rendered in behalf of our Jewish Community during his terms of office.

In the many years that I have known you Sol, as a friend, as a neighbour and as a confrere in our chosen profession, I have always found you to be a warm, fair and decent person. I can now say, since our association in the Vaad during the past several years that nothing has caused me to change my mind. Your selfless commitment to the task of the Presidency and prior thereto as a Vice-President and as U.J.A. Chairman have set a very high standard for me and others to follow.

Please accept this gavel as a small memento of our community's appreciation and affection. With it goes our best wishes for your good health and happiness and your continued participation in our community endeavours. This beautiful photograph, as is our custom, will take its place along with other distinguished past presidents in our Board Room, where you will continue to gaze down upon the future deliberations of our Council.

And to you, Zelaine, no stranger to community service yourself, may I say thank you for the support and encouragement that you and your family have given to Sol throughout his terms of office, as well as for your own participation as the President's wife and as a gracious hostess in many of the Vaad activities. As I have already mentioned to you on a previous occasion, we're not putting your husband out to pasture but expect him to be around for a couple of years yet to lend us the benefit of his wisdom and counsel. I can only promise you that we won't be making quite the same demands on his time or yours.

Looking Ahead

And now, if I may, I'd like to take just another moment or two of your time to look about at what we might expect during the next year or two. At our Annual Meeting last year, our then President pointed out a number of difficult problems that we faced in that coming year. He spoke of a shrinking campaign dollar and the need to economize on community services. He spoke of a need to establish community priorities so that funds are directed where they are most needed. I can tell you that not too much has changed and these problems are still with us.

What has changed in the past couple of years is our budgeting process. You will have read in the published committee reports that we have developed an integrated planning, budget and allocations system which requires our beneficiary agencies to present their budgets for review prior to the fiscal year and not well into the fiscal year as has been the custom in the past. Through the various budgeting panels we are attempting to provide the agencies with a method to assist them in defining their own priorities and trimming their budgets.

We are just finishing our first year under the new program and we will be dealing with the allocations for 1981-82 very soon. No doubt we will encounter additional problems, some that we haven't perhaps anticipated, but so far the system seems to be working well and we will be refining it as we go along. I believe it to be very important that we live within our means and I promise you that we will make every effort to do so. With the high cost of borrowing today, we can't afford to do otherwise.

What sort of picture does this paint for the future of our Jewish Community? I don't have any simple answers. If we require community services then we have to pay for them. We must continue to intensify our efforts to attain the realistic goals which are established each year for our U.J.A. Campaign just to cover our current needs.

What about our long range planning and our long term needs? In the past we have appointed ad hoc committees to make findings and recommendations on such matters as occur from time to time. We have in our community a large resource of people experienced in various matters whose advice and counsel we can make use of on a continuing basis.

Our Planning and Budgeting Committee includes a Panel on Long-Range Planning but so far it exists in name only. I am hopeful that we can set that process in motion during the coming year and establish a committee with some permanence to include some of the people I have referred to. Please help your community when we ask you to volunteer your services in this way.

I thank you for the confidence you have placed in me and look forward to working with you in the best interests of our community and all it seeks to do to improve the quality of Jewish life everywhere.

Maccabiah Contestants

Bill Holzman, son of John and Jacquelin Holzman and Michael Zunder, son of Mark and Lillian Zunder, have won places on the Canadian contingent to the 11th Maccabiah Games to be held July 6-16 in Israel. Over 3,000 Jewish athletes from 30 countries will be participating in more than 30 sporting events.

Bill, 23, a champion golfer, will be joined by five other golfers who qualified through regional and national tryouts in the fall of 1980. He has won many tournaments locally and attended Austin Peay State University in Tennessee on a golf scholarship, winning letters each year while a member of the Varsity Golf Team.

Michael Zunder, 17, attends Hillcrest High School. He is entering the 400 metres, 400 metre hurdles and the 4 x 400 metre relay. He was 400 metre Ontario Indoor Champion in 1977 and Outdoor Champion in 1979. In that year, he was also the lone triple-event winner at the Ottawa Valley Track and Field Meet and was named Top Athlete.

In 1980 he was a double-event winner at the Kingston Alumni Invitational setting a new 400 m. record. Earlier this year he broke the 200-metre record of past Canadian Olympic Team member Hugh Fraser at the Ottawa Valley Track Meet.

The Jewish Community is proud of Bill and Michael and wishes them every success at the Maccabiah.

Condolences

Condolences are extended to the families of:

Alex Gould, New York (brother of Hy, Victor, Rose Gould and Mrs. Sylvia Smith) Sidney Heller, Montreal (father of Mrs. Rosie Lisogurski)

Mrs. Annie Eisen, Toronto (mother of Morrie Eisen, Pembroke)

Israel Sheinfeld, Montreal (father of Mrs. Ethel Sarwer-Foner)

May their memory be a blessing.

Math winner

Congratulations are extended to Leonid Livshiz, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Igor Livshiz who was one of only two Canadians chosen for a Mathematics Scholarship to a summer camp at the University of Ohio. The 40-student camp is funded by the American National Science Foundation. A Lisgar Collegiate student, Leonid plans to attend Carleton next year. The Livshiz's came to Ottawa a year ago from the Soviet Union.

LORRY'S CORNER

The 1981 Campaign will officially close on Wednesday, July 15. Carol and I have invited all the workers to our country home in Manotick so that we can thank them for their efforts. There were many volunteers and just in case the invitation went astray or someone was inadvertently missed, a call to Rossie Rose at 232-7306 will correct the situation. I'd really appreciate it.

In the aftermath of Israel's pre-emptive strike on Iraq's nuclear reactor, much was written condemning the action. Here is a different perspective from the editorial page of the Wall Street Journal of June 10:

"An atom bomb for Iraq, we have learned in the last twenty-four hours, has become the latest great cause celebre of world opinion. Various governments, including our own, and a lot of pundits have been busily condemning Israel's raid on Iraq's nuclear reactor. Our own reaction is that it's nice to know that in Israel we have at least one nation left that still lives in the world of reality."

What is going on here: Iraq, awash in cheap crude oil, wants a big nuclear reactor. It rebuffs French suggestions to give up the original design and substitute one that does not need weapons-grade uranium. It has been buying raw uranium, which is not suitable for use in reactors, but dandy if you want to use the reactor to breed plutonium for weapons. Faced with this evidence, the conclusion of world opinion has been — everything's OK, Iraq has signed the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

This kind of silliness has a mysterious power to blind most who man foreign ministries, think tanks and editorial sanctuaries. Of course Iraq was building a bomb. Of course its intended target was Israel. Of course, given the Iraqi reputation for political nuttiness reaffirmed again in its startling war with Iran, its atom bomb would also have been a danger to all its neighbours. We all ought to get together and send the Israelis a vote of thanks.

Israel, which is assumed to have its own atom bomb but not to have conducted a test explosion, was not acting out of some abstract concern with non-proliferation. It was pursuing its own national interest and in its timing also no doubt Prime Minister Begin's political interest in the impending elections. Its pre-emptive strike was strong medicine.

This would not have been necessary, though, if the reality that marked the Israeli decision had been present in the United States' non-proliferation policy this last decade or so. These efforts more or less went out the window when the U.S. refused to take sanctions against India's "peaceful nuclear device," exploded in violation of an agreement with the U.S. After this show of irresolution, the U.S. could hardly expect to persuade, say, the French to pass up sales to Iraq.

To give the worriers about Israel their due, there is always reason to be concerned that any military act could prove to be the spark in the tinderbox of the Middle East. But we have been under the impression that the Middle East wasn't a very peaceful place even before last Sunday. People were being blown up on the beaches of Beirut and in the redoubts of western Iran. To judge the extent of the silliness, notice that among the governments objecting is Iran, locked in war with Iraq. Is there reason to doubt that there were sighs of relief in the Saudi palaces on learning that Iraq won't have a bomb soon.

Being concerned about the peace of the Middle East does not make it necessary to be easily deceived about the necessary components for peace. Without a doubt, the ability of Israel and Egypt to come to terms has contributed mightily to that end and President Carter's role in aiding that agreement was a major foreign policy achievement. But Lebanon has become a madhouse and the Soviet Union, through its surrogate, Syria, seems intent on keeping it that way to keep the Middle East pot boiling.

In such a situation, it is not entirely unpalatable for the United States to send a shuttle diplomat to try to damp down the passions and seek out possibilities for a modus vivendi. But the best chances for peace, to the extent they exist, depend far more heavily on balance of power perceptions in the area itself.

The Israelis are not infallible, but their security for thirty-three years now has depended on making careful power judgments. They know that their best chances for avoiding bloodshed lie in frequently reminding their neighbours that they are strong and that their wishes are not to be taken lightly.

The Israeli approach to non-proliferation is limited and direct. But their outlook on the world and on what it takes to earn the world's respect offers a few lessons we ourselves could profitably learn."

Commentary by Cynthia Engel Editor

'Bye.

I'm packing it in!

The Bulletin will publish on July 31 and August 28, but without the commentary from yours truly that regularly fills this space. Much as I love writing a bi-weekly column, I'm hanging a "gone fishin'" sign on my typewriter and giving myself the gift of summer — or at least part of it.

It has been a hectic but also a happy time for me since I inherited the responsibility of editing this paper. Meeting deadlines while tending to the needs of a growing family, and trying desperately to vary dinner menus for a deserving husband has meant the wearing of several hats. At one time or other (sometimes simultaneously!), I can be found in the guise of:

Doctor Mommy, great and powerful healer of all cuts and bruises, or...

Chef Terrific, creator of a lasagne so delectable, Italians beg for the recipe, or...

Madame l'Editor, cool, calm, and above all, grammatically correct (allevail!).

It ain't always been easy. But it has been worth it.

Over the months in this office, I've learned what is meant by the expression "the power of the press" specifically as it applies — in a limited sense — to the Ottawa Jewish Bulletin and Review. As Editor of this little rag (I use the term lovingly) I've discovered, when I take my red pen in hand I can — and do — wield extraordinary power.

With one well-intentioned but totally misguided swoop of my trusty red I continually prove again and again, the old adage that the hand is quicker than the eye. For instantly, without even noticing, I have removed presidents from office, changed times of meetings, and altered the spellings of names. And that's just the tip of the iceberg! It is unintentional. It is done unwittingly. And it upsets the perfectionist side of my nature tremendously. As consolation to any who have fallen victim to my mighty stroke, know that I do not play favourites, for I have, on occasion, also managed to wreak havoc on my own golden words.

Summer is a time to relax and enjoy. Here's hoping summer '81 is glorious and sun-filled for all of us.

See you in September!

The Golden Age Club Closing Luncheon was held on June 22, but please note that the luncheons and Bingo Mini-Luncheons will continue throughout the summer, although minor adjustments may have to be made because of the Day Camp. See the Bulletin for additional details and dates.

Also watch for a community-wide event being planned by our Teleshalom volunteers for August 20. They have undertaken to sponsor and organize one of the senior programs held weekly at Lakeside Gardens at Britannia. The Teleshalom group, chaired by Pearl Greenberg, will run the Bingo and provide prizes and entertainment for this worthwhile program, which is run under the auspices of the City of Ottawa's Recreation Department.

Dates to remember:

July 9: Morton Baslaw, artist and teacher, on "The Influence of Commercial Art on Society". Agudath Israel, 12:30 p.m.

July 13: Golden Age Luncheon in the Jewish Community Centre at 12:30 p.m.

July 23: Sam Asher — Director of Planning and Budgeting for the Jewish Community Council of Ottawa, on "Jewish Identification in the Eighties". Agudath Israel, 12:30 p.m.

Update 2

Project Renewal-Or Yehuda

By Harvey Lithwick

Project Renewal has posed a serious problem for North American Jews. It is addressed to a legitimate and serious situation in Israel. At the same time, it has created a credibility problem. The scale and cost of the proposed effort was not matched by the kind of detailed planning and organizational capability necessary to ensure its success. To most of us, then, it looked like just another gimmicky attempt at fundraising.

Not surprisingly, many North American communities have had difficulty coming up with a workable approach. Ottawa has been fortunate in being associated with the Ontario regional committee. Under the chairmanship of Mr. Lou Sklar, the Committee has taken advantage of the lack of a rigid framework to create a mechanism that is well on the way to producing important results in our "twinning" community of Or Yehuda, and in its target neighbourhood, Shechuna Beit.

Organization

From the outset, the Committee has insisted that our role must be more than fundraising. It has argued that we must be a full partner in planning and implementing our program of assistance.

The result has been the creation of a Project Renewal Steering Committee in Or Yehuda in charge of developing and implementing social and physical rehabilitation in the community. The Steering Committee includes the Mayor of Or Yehuda as chairman, representatives of relevant Israel Government Ministries, professional staff of the town, a representative of the Jewish Agency, community representatives, and a representative of our Ontario committee.

Antecol is Graduated

Edward J. Antecol, son of Florence and Saul Antecol, recently graduated from Carleton University, degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering with high distinction, and was awarded the University Medal for highest standing in the Faculty of Engineering.

He will be doing post-graduate work towards his Masters Degree at Carleton University.

Bazaar will have crafts

This year crafts will be included in Hadassah's annual Bazaar. A separate room will be devoted to crafts for sale and display.

We would like any professional or semi-professional craftspeople to participate. There is no entrance fee.

The Bazaar will be a one day event, held Wednesday, November 4 at the Civic Center.

Please call Roz Tabachnick at 828-9817 for more information.

The Project Manager, hired by the Government of Israel, is Mr. Gideon Arbel, a resident of Or Yehuda, who has already proven himself to be an articulate and no-nonsense administrator. In addition, we have hired a very fine academic, Prof. Amnon Shinar of Ben Gurion University, as an advisory to us as well as the three other Canadian projects.

Finally, it became clear that it would be useful to coordinate our efforts with those of the city of Milwaukee which has responsibility for an adjacent neighbourhood in Or Yehuda. These ties have now been established to ensure coordinated planning, although there will be no merging of funds. Coordination has been achieved in large part by having Dr. Leon Rosky, now resident in Israel, appointed to the Steering Committee, to represent both Milwaukee and ourselves.

Financial Control

One of the concerns expressed from the outset was the need for financial control over the spending of funds raised here. This view was strongly held by such local community leaders as the late Gilbert Greenberg, as well as by our Chairman, Lou Sklar.

The result is a very tight system of control that, I believe, can allay any such fears. Only projects that the Ontario Committee has agreed to undertake on the basis of an approved budget will receive our funding. All costs must, in the first instance be covered by the Government of Israel. We will then reimburse the Government only for those activities whose budget we have agreed to support and provided there is acceptable documentation regarding the expenditures made in line with that budget.

In other words, before our funds are allocated, there is to be a dual check: first in terms of a proposed budget and then in terms of ensuring that the work had been carried out and funds expended as per the budget.

Planning Approach

Another concern here has been the need for a systematic attack on the problems. The Committee was unwilling to proceed unless its efforts were part of a comprehensive attack on the problems of Shechuna Beit. Otherwise, it was feared, the prospects for real improvement would be lost in a myriad of small, ineffectual efforts.

As a result, we have taken two inter-related steps. The first is an in-depth study of the social and physical problems in the neighbourhood. It has been undertaken by the prestigious Israeli Institute of Applied Social Research and should be completed shortly.

The Committee has insisted that a comprehensive plan for the area is a prerequisite to major involvement. It has taken some time to identify an acceptable team and to secure Israeli Government support for this step, but we are close to an agreement at this time.

However, the time required to complete such a plan will be over a year. It has become important to begin some modest projects to demonstrate our concern and support to the residents of the neighbourhood, and to deal with particularly severe problems. In my next update, I shall describe those projects, the progress made to date, and the impact already made on the community.

Initiate Holocaust Documentation Bank

One event continues to stir the passions of mankind. From those who seek to document and record man's inhumanity to man, to those who seek to deny and belittle its horrific magnitude; some 35 years later, the Holocaust still impacts on today's society.

Many Canadian citizens have an important historic and moral message to convey to their fellow Canadians. As survivors of concentration camps, freedom fighters or as military liberators, these individuals are living witnesses to that ominous period of history — one which must not be forgotten and whose lessons must be transmitted to future generations. As most are in their latter years of life their numbers are dwindling, and it is therefore historically vital to record their testimonies without delay.

Recognizing the need for expeditious action, the Canadian Jewish Congress and the Multiculturalism Program, Government of Canada, have initiated a Holocaust Documentation Bank — an audio-visual project to tape the personal histories of Canadians who have survived the Holocaust.

Video-tape cassettes to inform

In one of the largest grants ever awarded, the Multiculturalism Program is sponsoring a CJC project to produce a series of color video-tape cassettes to inform, educate and sensitize the Canadian public to the dimensions of the Holocaust and the moral imperative to prevent its reoccurrence.

This project will be Canada's unique and significant contribution to the existing corpus of Holocaust documentation material and will be available for worldwide distribution and use.

Canadian Jewish Congress perceives a continuing need to confront the evils of anti-Semitism and to underscore the consequences for all mankind of racial and/or religious prejudice. A Holocaust Remembrance Committee was established over a decade ago whose mandate it is to pay homage to those who perished and to serve as a conscience to the living.

The genesis of this project occurred at the May 1980 CJC Plenary Assembly, when two separate resolutions called on the National Committee to promote and expand Holocaust studies in schools as well as to urge the Canadian Government to establish a commemorative project to serve as a permanent reminder and symbol of the anguish of the Holocaust.

Nine months of negotiating

Since that time, the Holocaust Documentation Bank proposal was developed and after nine months of negotiations with the Government of Canada, approval was granted to bring this project to fruition.

Canadian Jewish Congress recognizes the historic and educational importance of documenting the personal testimonies of Canadian citizens who have relevant information on the Holocaust. A series of video-tape cassettes will be produced recording the individual experiences of Canadians, Jewish and non-Jewish, who would provide geographic and historic data from both a European and Canadian perspective.

While not a definitive historical documentation on the full import of the Holocaust, the Documentation Bank Project is intended to counteract an ominous process underway — the attempts to distort and falsify historical record. As books and new historical "journals" proliferate which deny the reality of heinous crimes against humanity, the Holocaust Documentation Bank becomes a mandatory dictate in the ethical, moral and historical record of the Holocaust.

The Holocaust Documentation Bank will be able to counteract these assaults on historical fact. By taping testimonies of living witnesses, a definitive and authentic oral history record will be available for use by historians, researchers and academicians. This documentation will be permanently deposited in the Public Archives of Canada, the Yad Vashem Memorial in Israel and in major Holocaust Study Centers in North America.

Cross Canada interviews of living witnesses to the Holocaust will take place during the late summer and early fall. Those interested in participating are asked to contact Freda Frankel, 232-7306.

SRO at "Broadway Our Style" hit fundraiser

By Elaine Citrome

More than 420 people can attest to the huge success of Star of David Hebrew School's cabaret evening, "Broadway — Our Style". They laughed at Lou Honigman's hilarious expressions in "I Wanna Be Loved By You", whistled at the electrifying burlesque in "Gotta Get a Gimmick", and rose to their feet and clapped as one to the rousing finale, "Let the Sun Shine".

To all those on and behind the stage, to those in the school and in the community who helped in so many different ways, and especially to Gerry Wexler, Shirley Kimmel and Stephen Harris, congratulations on a job well done!

Affectionately known as Dodo, the native Montrealer moved to Ottawa in 1972.

As a member of the National Council of Jewish Women, she created and chaired the highly successful Adolescent Conference in the fall of 1979.

Mrs. Bronstein, a nursery teacher at Hillel Academy, was Chairman of the Seminar for Jewish Nursery Schools (1980).

She is no stranger to the J.C.C., having participated in the planning of the Health and Fitness Fairs, in addition to serving on numerous other program committees.

Her immediate family is

well known to the community; husband Leon, a past President of B'nai B'rith Ottawa Lodge 885, is Chairman of the B'nai B'rith Co-ordinating Committee; children Allan and Cheryl are active members of Dror Habonim, and both are counsellors at Camp Gasher.

25/35 Company has busy month planned

By Allen Markowitz

After our very successful 2nd annual picnic in May and a rather relaxed June, July promises to be a very busy month for our members.

We open the month with dinner at Mamma Teresa's 281 Kent (at Cooper) on Tuesday, July 7, at 6:30 p.m., for the after work crowd who like some company at an evening meal.

Our monthly open house meeting is scheduled for July 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the J.C.C. Library. All interested parties are welcome to attend.

On Monday, July 13, join us for a dinner-theatre party: Dinner: Yan's, 6 p.m. Theatre: Ottawa Little Theatre, "Third Best Sport", Curtain at 8:30 p.m. Meet by 8:00 p.m.

Tickets: $4 per seat, may be reserved from Peter Wolfe by July 9. Please leave your cheque for Peter at the J.C.C. switchboard.

Sunday, July 19, 10:00 a.m., come flea marketing in Stittsville. For information and car pools, call Loris Stein, 237-3284.

Another get together, Thursday, July 23, 6:30 p.m. dinner at Mariners' Cove, 141 George Street in the market.

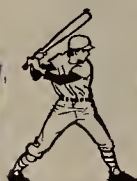

And remember our ongoing activities:

Wednesday night co-ed softball: 6:30 p.m. Laurentian High School. 50¢ per game or $7 per season.

Sunday night Israeli Dancing: call Janice, 820-9269.

Interested in a tennis ladder? Call Sid, 523-7551.

Watch for our upcoming newsletter, including some additional attractions for the month.

World should thank not condemn Israel

By Nathaniel Saperstein,
President of the National Council of Young Israel

If one listened closely to the statements coming out of Washington after the announcement of Israel's pre-emptive air strike against the French-built nuclear reactor near Baghdad, and read carefully between the lines, there was an almost audible sigh of relief that Israel had, once again, done the West's dirty work for it, while protecting its own legitimate defence interests. As is in the case of the Entebbe raid, almost exactly five years ago, Israel used just the right amount of military force, with perfect execution, against a sworn enemy bent on defying international law to intimidate and hopefully destroy the Jewish state.

In the case of Idi Amin, his record was so detestable that most of the world cheered in spite of itself. In the case of Iraq, the record is equally clear, but less appreciated, so let us recap its most salient points.

First, to silence charges of "sneak attack" and violation of international law, let us recall that Iraq has repeatedly declared itself to be in a continuing state of war against what it refers to only as the "Zionist entity." Since 1948, Iraq has been a leader of the Arab "rejectionist front" which refuses even to contemplate peace negotiations with Israel on terms other than unconditional surrender and dissolution. It has also been a steadfast supporter of the PLO and its terrorist tactics, and is a radical, Soviet client state.

Second, Iraq's President Saddam Hussein has demonstrated contempt for all international standards of moral and lawful conduct, and disregard for the value of human life, both in his efforts to gain and maintain political power in Iraq, and in his cold-blooded invasion of Iran last year in an attempt to gain the leadership of the Persian Gulf oil basin. If he were to gain control of nuclear weapons, he could not, on the basis of his past conduct, be expected to exercise rational restraint in their use, even in the face of the certain retaliatory destruction of his own country.

Third, Saddam Hussein's determined efforts to buy or extort uranium and nuclear technology from suppliers throughout the world were far in excess of any possible domestic commercial need, leading to the inescapable conclusion that Iraq was committed to developing a substantial nuclear weapons capability, in spite of its signature on the international nuclear non-proliferation treaty. A great deal of responsibility also must rest upon the French and Italian governments, which have continued to supply Iraq with these highly dangerous nuclear materials and technology even after Iraq's intentions became obvious to all Western observers.

Fourth, Iraq has made it clear to the world that its nuclear development program is designed as a threat to Israel, both by statements made when the reactor was first attacked by Iran last year, and by its actions reserving its heavier bombers and ground-to-ground missiles for use against Israel during conflict with Iran. In addition, Iraq could be expected to use its nuclear capability to intimidate other states in the Persian Gulf area as well as Israel, thus posing a threat to the entire strategic region.

Therefore, Israel, in destroying Iraq's nuclear facility, acted not only in its legitimate, self-defence interests, but in the interests of maintaining peace and stability throughout the Middle East. It acted only after repeated efforts by the United States and other responsible parties to dissuade the French and Italians from aiding the Iraqi proved unsuccessful.

Finally, Israel delayed until the last possible moment, striking the reactor just before it became operational, when it would have become impossible to destroy the facility without the likelihood of widespread radioactive contamination. At the least, Israel deserves the free world's silent thanks rather than its hypocritical condemnation for acting to protect us all.

Jeffrey Allen Cogan

Create Bar Mitzvah Fund

The Officers and Directors of the Ottawa Jewish Community Foundation welcome the establishment of the "Jeffrey Allen Cogan Scholarship Fund" in honour of his Bar Mitzvah.

Jeffrey is the son of Fred Cogan and the stepson of Lisa Cogan. It is his desire that the income of the Fund should benefit the Tel Aviv Gymnasium High School for the purchase of musical instruments and musical supplies.

Jeffrey is following in the footsteps of his brother Howard who three years ago on the occasion of his Bar Mitzvah, established a Scholarship Fund in the Foundation.

The Officers and Directors of the Foundation are pleased to see these young men becoming involved in Mitzvah and Charity and hope that others in the community will see fit to do likewise.

This Fund brings the total number of Funds in the Foundation to 117 with total capital of over $1 million. For information to establish a Fund, call Casey Swedlove at 236-2993 or Hy Hochberg at 232-7306.

Ronald Bodnoff Fund is established

Ronald Bodnoff

The community was deeply saddened recently to learn of the untimely passing of Ronald Bodnoff. In tribute to Ron's memory, friends and relatives have established the "Ronald Bodnoff Memorial Fund" to perpetuate the good deeds of his lifetime.

Ronald was born in Ottawa, the son of Ben and Annie Bodnoff. He attended York St. Public School, the Ottawa Technical High School and completed electrical courses in Toronto at Ryerson College.

He is survived by his wife Rhoda; daughters Sherri and Penny; brother Morley; and sister Muriel Putterman of Windsor. Two brothers, Phil and Joe predeceased him. Ronald is the son-in-law of Doris Torontow.

Ron was a man of integrity, of good-will and of personal self-sacrifice. He was extremely devoted to his wife and daughters. He was not only beloved by his family, but by all who knew him or had anything to do with him.

He was intensely involved in B'nai B'rith and gave much of himself to its many communal projects. Ron was also a member of Beth Shalom Synagogue.

The "Ronald Bodnoff Memorial Fund" will be open-ended and family and friends may add to it at any time. The capital will be invested in perpetuity and the income each year will be used for charitable and educational purposes.

Deborah Sugarman

Memorial Fund Established

The Officers and Directors of the Ottawa Jewish Community Foundation gratefully acknowledge the establishment by family and friends of the Deborah Sugarman Memorial Fund.

The Fund will perpetuate the memory of Deborah Sugarman, the daughter of Shirley and Lawrence Sugarman, a bright and beautiful child who accidentally lost her life at the age of 9.

The capital will be invested in perpetuity and the income designated each year to the Ottawa Talmud Torah Afternoon School Slow Learner Project in accordance with the wishes of the parents.

The fund is open-ended and friends and family may add to it at any time.

Parents group acts in Year of Disabled

By Lily Penso

I am very pleased to announce to the Ottawa Jewish Community the work of a small committee of Jewish Parents whose goal it has been to establish a Jewish Home for Retarded Adults.

I am the mother of a retarded young man of 19. In my extensive quest for a Jewish environment for our son, I discovered the Reena Foundation in Toronto. This foundation, under the guidance of Rabbi Joseph Kelman, runs five such homes for the developmentally handicapped.

The beauty of their program, which I am so anxious to introduce into Ottawa, is that 5 to 7 developmentally handicapped men and women over the age of 18 live together in a family atmosphere, with staff and volunteers available on a 24 hour basis. The staff assists the residents in the development of skills for personal growth, with the eventual goal of reaching their full potential and be coming integrated, independent citizens of this community.

In this environment Kashrut would be observed and the joy of the Shabbat and Jewish festivals celebrated.

The residents would hopefully be working in sheltered workshops and, in some cases, independently employed during the day. Activities of daily living such as personal hygiene, homemaking, cooking, shopping, budgeting etc. would be included. Interpersonal relationships, social skills and outings would also be a major part of the program.

The provision of a relief bed is an important consideration, so that parents of a retarded young person can take the occasional much needed holiday, or for family emergency situations.

It is expected that at some point some of the residents will be able to move into apartments or other housing in the community. By then, the program will have developed an outreach component to support the transition.

Locally we know of approximately 15 potential clients as well as several younger eventual ones. There are also a number of young people at the Rideau Regional Hospital who might avail themselves of our home as, in order to get Government funding, we must accept 50% of our clients from institutions.

Another goal of our Parent Group is to develop a self-help, mutual-help group to support other families in coping with the realization that they have a developmentally handicapped child; accepting the limitations but recognizing the potential of the child; preparing for the transition from family to group home, etc.

Because of our belief as Jews that we are our brother's keeper, we feel all individuals have the right to realize their full potential so they too can conduct their lives in a meaningful and dignified way. We feel strongly the community should be made more aware of the situation and increase its acceptance of developmentally handicapped people as full and equal citizens.

Our Parent Group is most grateful to Elaine Rabin of Jewish Social Services Agencies and Jacqueline Holzman of the Social Planning Council of the City of Ottawa, for their ongoing support and assistance.

We plan to hold a community meeting shortly, and look to individuals and organizations for their understanding and support.
